after sales care

To complement our extensive range of products we have an enviable after sales service that will ensure your ongoing needs are met. It's a service that is totally reliable and tailored to meet your requirements, a service that can react quickly for you.

Need a rapid response to a technical query? Our engineers are readily available to deal with these should the need arise. And should you have a general enquiry, our support team are just a quick phone call away.

Offering support is our business. We understand the complex issues that arise, such as health and safety, comfort and maintenance and complying with legislation – issues that can cause a headache for any size and type of organisation. Our service is designed to relieve you of these pressures by offering you a flexible, professional and close working relationship that supports you as you get on with running your business.

An important feature of our service to this sector is 'cantrac'. Our drivers use tracking devices to ensure that proof of delivery can be traced.

“A clean, fresh washroom says a great deal about you, your business and how you value your staff and customers”

our service & what we offer

“You are the specialist in your field, we are in ours”

At Cannon we are committed to keeping your business turning.

We work hard to ensure that washroom standards are the highest they can be – standards that surpass the expectations of an increasingly hygiene conscious public. We offer national coverage for any type of business operation and continue to develop new services and products to meet today's hygiene demands e.g. Activap, an extremely effective defence against harmful bacteria and viruses.

Our full range of integrated washroom services support your organisation – leaving you to get on with what you do best – your business.
